GENERAL YOSHON NEWS

Chodesh Tov!

The Season Is Slowing Down a Bit

Although the news on new products, establishments, and food recalls has slowed down a bit, there are still many things happening. There was a Chodosh Bulletin Update from Project Chodosh last night, and Yoshon.com had been completely updated for two days with the latest Bob's Red Mill dates. Just as "the Guardian never sleeps", we don't rest much around here either, before the next update comes in. Canada and Kemach are likely due for updates, and we will keep you posted!

January 22, 2020 - Yoshon News on Israel Beer Breweries Brands

It has come to our attention that the Israel Beer Breweries brands which had been listed as "yoshon", have a few more requirements other than merely the quantity sizes as listed in the OK website, "The Guide to Chodosh", and of course Yoshon.com. Originally, it was merely stated that each brand had to be a certain size. The OK related the following:

"Anything from Israel Beer Breweries which comes up on the OK product search and has the designation 'Yoshon' next to it – the same restrictions apply (only certified by the OK and monitored by the OK ללא חשש חדש ["not chodosh"] when bearing the OK symbol and the company address לבר לב אשקלון).

This applies to the following brands in the stated quantities: Carlsberg (in .5L and 330 ml), Holsten Pilsner (in 500 ml), Kronenbourg 1664 Blanc (Citrus Flavored Beer in 330 ml, and only with a Best by date of 30.60.2020), Malty (in 330 ml) and Diet Malty (in 1.5 L and 330 ml), Stella Artois (in 330 ml), Tuborg Green (in .5L and 330 ml), and Tuborg Beer (in .5L and 330 ml).

TYNI Note: Please note that "yoshon-certified" status only applies to the beers from Israel, and not the ones originating from the USA, (some of which have the same quantities, only in ounces). We are currently making these clarification notes on each specific entry on Yoshon.com.
