Malt Reminder: December 15th is coming up fast, and items containing only Barley Malt become chodosh after this packing date cutoff. Items many don't think of include cereals such as crispy rice and corn flakes, corn flake crumbs, or snack food items like malt vinegar-seasoned potato chips. It can be hiding anywhere including flour. Check your ingredients and stock up now while you still can!

According to Guide to Chodosh, this date is the last day to safely purchase Beer if the actual date code cutoff is unknown. Be sure to scan your beer with our app or do a search on our site for those we have information on.

Note that if something was scanned and doesn't come up, but the product is on our site, please send us a picture of the UPC and what it goes to, so we can add it to the product entry.
